This custom made backpack / bag camera has a quality built-in high definition CMOS camera with sound chip. The bag used is a medium-sized black bag with both a strap and a handle and the design and an item that is considered as unisex. A portable hidden camera secreted within a stylish yet practical bag.

Portable Hidden Camera Positioned for Natural Bag Use

The built in covert camera is hidden in position in the pouch that forms part of the strap. This means that when the bag camera is carried in the normal manner and over the left shoulder, the portable hidden camera will be pointing to the front facing the same way as the bag wearer/carrier. This is perfect for walking into a location where video recording needs to be captured on the move whilst the bag is still on the shoulder of the wearer thereby looking natural and not arousing suspicion.

Custom Built to Maintain Shape

The inside of the bag is custom packed with foam to protect the portable camera and to ensure that everything is held firmly and securely in place. The bag is lined in such a way so as to make the bag stiff enough to hold its shape. This ensures that the camera remains at the correct angle/position. The viewing aspect cannot be guaranteed when it is set down (not being worn over the shoulder).
